

How to xerosoph.in

Basically, the idea is simple: anyone, everyone or anything who feels more connected to the bicycle in its social, practical, political or philosophical meaning than a car can have a say. In this case, write. Or paint. Or distribute booklets or organize printing or proofread or layout texts. You're also welcome to say: "Yo-woman! I have an idea, but it doesn't quite make it out of my head and onto the page!" Someone might reply, "I don't care!" But also, "Ah yes, very interesting! I happen to have talent, but no head."

You have three options on how to hand us your contribution:

1. you submit your page(s) in A5 format, ready to be laid out. There are no limits to your imagination. Your contribution will be printed as you submit it.
2. you submit your contribution and give us permission to layout your contribution. For example, we combine your text with an illustration.
3. you send us your text parts and wish that someone creates a nice text out of it.

If you choose option 2 or 3, we will send you the layout before we print the Xerosoph.in. We will print your contribution only if we have your OK.

You have two options how to send us your contribution:

1. by email to redaktion@xerosoph.in
2. on Telegram in the group xerosoph\_in

It is important that the readers can contact you. Please provide a way to contact you. This can be your Telegram name or your email address. If you write under a pseudonym and want to remain anonymous, you can use this address as a contact address: info@xerosoph.in . We will then forward the contact request to you.

F.A.Q.

Q1: How long should my contribution be?

A1: Ideally 1-3 A5 pages. If your contribution is really mega important, it may of course be a little longer.

Q2: Does my text have to be about bicycles/velo?

A2: No. We understand the bicycle as a tool for our activism. If you can include the word "velo" or "bicycle" in a subordinate clause, we are of course very happy!

Q3: What should I pay attention to?

A3: Please choose a gender-neutral language. Any form of hatred, violence, racism or discrimination will not be tolerated.
